PROGRAM FOR TODAY.
2:00 P. M.—Wild west show and Indians from Ute reservation at Roswell park.
(Take northbound Tejon street cars.)
3:00 P. M.—Band concert at South park by Colorado Midland band.
8:00 P. M.—Band concert at Manitou by Colorado Midland band.
8:00 P. M. Pavilion, Stratton park, free moving pictures. "The Recent British Coronation," also "Beauty Spots in the Rockies," travelogue by Carl B. Balcomb.

The two big features of yesterday's celebration of the carnival—the wild west show at Roswell park in the afternoon and the brilliant fire run and life-saving exhibition immediately following, in the evening—more than fulfilled the expectations of the thousands who gathered to witness the events. The fifth day of carnival week, while without the absorbing interest attaching to the aviators' flights, nevertheless maintained the high standard set by the committee as necessary to the proper observance of the occasion. The streets in the business district again presented a brilliant appearance, and the crowds who thronged them partook as gaily as ever of the carnival spirit which filled the air.

Besides the main events of the day other features included the Russian Ballet dancing at Stratton park and ball game at Zoo park in the afternoon, and the band concert in North park and the dance at Stratton park, in the evening.

That there may be no letup to the array of brilliant and interesting events on this, the final day of the carnival, new features have been particularly arranged to give the maximum of interest. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the wild west show, with practically a new program of events, will hold forth, to the delight of those certain to avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the real, wild life of the West. Horses that have never been ridden before, stunts that are hair-raising, and the finest exhibition of "saddle-braking" ever shown in the west today, all will combine to furnish more thrills to the second than Roswell park has ever seen before.

Besides the big Roswell show, South park will be the scene of a concert by the Midland band at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and at 8 o'clock tonight the band will play at Manitou. At the latter hour, also, the free moving picture show and travelogue by Carl B. Bal-

ALMOST ON EVE OF WEDNESDAY Hendricks, Who Sustained Ruptured Blood Vessel at Parade, Passes Away

Almost on the eve of his wedding, C. O. Hendricks, the New York broker who burst a blood vessel in escaping from the maddened horse ridden by Lieut. H. M. Ragle of the Colorado National guard last Tuesday, died yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Glouster sanatorium. Seven other people were injured in the same accident, which occurred during the parade, directly in front of Governor Shafroth's box in the grandstand on North Cascade avenue. Mr. Hendricks leaves a married sister, who is on her way from New York to take charge of the body. He was 30 years old.

Mr. Hendricks was engaged to Miss Grace Alden, who lives in Pennsylvania, and they were to have been married within two or three weeks. He came to Colorado Springs for treatment three months ago, and, according to getting well. Two weeks ago he made a trip to Denver, returning here for the carnival. He seemed in the best of spirits the day of the accident, according to his attendants. Little is known here of Mr. Hendricks.

Dies Suddenly.
Tuesday afternoon, immediately after the accident, physicians at the sanatorium said that he would recover providing he had plenty of care and quiet. His treatment was arranged accordingly, and yesterday morning he felt so much improved that he sat up in bed for a moment, only to fall back in a faint. Physicians and nurses were immediately summoned to his bedside, but despite their efforts he died half an hour later without regaining consciousness.

The accident which is indirectly responsible for Hendricks' death, happened just before the vanguard of the plumed and civic parade reached the grandstand. Lieutenant Ragle, who is an officer of Company A of this city, had been dispatched to the bandmaster, who headed the parade, with an order from the chief marshal. The horse, a lively animal, became frightened at the flapping of the officers' sword, and bolted. Ragle shouted a warning just before the unmanageable steed dashed into the crowd. Hendricks was not hurt by the horse, but sustained a ruptured blood vessel in the excitement.

New features galore kept the spectators at the wild west show at Roswell park yesterday afternoon in a future of excitement. There was not a dull moment during the entire afternoon, and the new-fangled bucks which the horses had evidently been saving for yesterday were of a nature to make the crowd yell with excitement. A cowboy relay race, in which each of the contestants used four horses and covered a distance in all of two miles, was one of the thrilling events of the afternoon, while the straight and fancy shooting of Capt. "Burr" Hardy furnished an exhibition which could not be duplicated. He shot from his back, with a mirror, and from an automobile at full speed, and he "killed" oranges.

EVERYBODY ATTENDS "BIG DOINGS"

John T. Milliken Heads Bank of Victor and Cripple Creek Institution

Reports published some time ago that John T. Milliken of St. Louis and Colorado Springs was negotiating for the purchase of the control of the Cripple Creek State bank at Cripple Creek and the Bank of Victor at Victor, were followed last night by an announcement that the deal has been consummated. Mr. Milliken, who is president and controlling director of the Golden Cycle Mining company, bought out the holdings of the Moffat estate, which was represented in the Cripple Creek district banks mentioned by A. A. Rolleston.

Under the change made yesterday, Harvey McGarry, who is in Denver, president and general manager of the Golden Cycle company, assumes charge of the Cripple Creek bank as vice president. E. F. Smith, manager of the Golden Cycle mill in West Colorado Springs, will take charge of the affairs of the Victor bank. It is understood that their appointments are temporary and that they will hold office only until a successor to Mr. Rolleston is appointed. Mr. Smith also assumes the office of treasurer of the Golden Cycle company formerly held by Rolleston. At present Mr. Rolleston is in Denver.

Official Announcement.
Judge McGarry, who is in Denver, last night dictated the following statement to The Gazette over the telephone:
"John T. Milliken has purchased from the Moffat estate of Denver the control of the Bank of Victor and the Cripple Creek State bank of Cripple Creek and will be president of both institutions. Harvey McGarry of Colorado Springs will immediately take over the Cripple Creek State bank and E. F. Smith will at once take over the Bank of Victor. Mr. McGarry will be vice president of the bank in Cripple Creek and Mr. Smith will hold the same office in the bank at Victor."
"These banks were owned by the Moffat estate and by A. A. Rolleston of Victor, and sold by them to Mr. Milliken. The latter has been considering the purchase for the last year." Mr. McGarry did not announce the consideration. Both banks carry deposits aggregating $1,500,000, with a combined capital of $80,000. It is understood that the amount involved was over $250,000. The Cripple Creek institution is capitalized at $50,000 and the Bank of Victor at $30,000. The directorate of both institutions will consist of Mr. Milliken, Mr. McGarry and Mr. Smith, in addition to two other members who will serve on the Bank of Victor board, whose names are not made public. Managers will be employed to manage the banks for Mr. McGarry and Mr. Smith.

Boy, After Killing Father, Attempts to Blacken His Memory

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Joseph Vack, Jr., 17 years old, tonight confessed that he shot and killed his father, a wealthy contractor, early today, and then sought to blacken the memory of the dead man by means of a "Black Hand" note pinned to the clothing of the corpse. He is said to have slain his father after a demand for money, and the elder Vack had reprimanded him for not working.

The note, addressed to the victim's wife, read as follows:
"Your husband is now where he wanted you to be. He told us if we killed you he would give us $500, and we failed. We asked him for the coin, anyway, and he did not give it to us, so we got even. He deserted it and not you. I am a perfect gentleman and a friend of yours. Do not mourn for this guy, as he is a coward."
The body was found by the victim's widow, who notified the police. After a brief investigation of the Black Hand theory, the police suspected that the murder had been committed by some member of the family, and, after several hours of cross-questioning, the boy confessed to the murder and led several detectives to a lonely spot in the suburbs, where he declared the revolver with which the shooting was done was buried.

U. P. SUES WELD COUNTY

DENVER, Aug. 4.—Union Pacific railway today brought suit against the commissioners of Weld county alleging discrimination in taxes.

NOTICE ON A TEAM OF PUBLISHER PRINTED IN

High School Boys, Amateur Operators
Missouri Woman Says Husband Drove Her Over Field He Was Harrowing

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Edward D. Early, millionaire owner and publisher of the Los Angeles Express and the Los Angeles Tribune, was indicted by a grand jury here late today, charged with disclosing in the Tribune the contents of an intercepted wireless message.

Early construed the message as indicating an alliance of the three morning papers against the Earl papers, and it was printed in the Tribune. So far as known here the indictment is the first of the kind in any country.

The indictment was the latest and most spectacular phase of a bitter editorial controversy between Earl's paper and the Los Angeles Times, the Los Angeles Examiner and the Los Angeles Herald, concerning the circulation difficulties of the recently established Tribune.

While the Herald bears the name of E. S. Peard as editor and publisher, Earl has asserted that the real owner and the director of the Herald's policy is General Harrison Gray Otis, publisher of the Times. He used the wireless message, which was intercepted by three high school boys, in an attempt to prove his contention.

The Message.
The message was as follows:
"To: E. S. Peard. Avalon.
"General suggests over phone that we make reproduction of Examiner Earl expose in Herald in morning. Suggestion sounds good to me and will follow it unless you wire to the contrary. Both phone ordinances passed by council and signed by mayor this afternoon. Now is opportune time for reprint."
(Signed) "WEBB."

Fenner Webb is managing editor of the Herald. The boys who intercepted the message which was printed in the Tribune of the morning of July 31, are Kenneth Ormiston, Harry Roome and David Smith, amateur wireless operators.

Mr. Earl in a statement tonight blamed his indictment on the personal animosity of the prosecuting officers, who, he says, are his political opponents.

Although Earl's paper, the Express, and the Herald have been considered as aligned together against the Times on local issues, the Herald recently changed editors and it was reported that it also would change from morning to an afternoon paper, thus invading the field of the Express.

Charges Otis With Control.
Earl declared that if this happened he would put a morning paper at once into the field to compete with the established five-cent dailies, and beginning July 1, he published the Tribune on this basis. The Herald remained a morning paper.

In the first issue of the Tribune, Earl charged that the Herald had passed into the control of Otis, which allegation he has reiterated almost daily in the unceasing newspaper controversy precipitated by the appearance of the new daily.

The Times and the Herald have admitted editorially the authenticity of the message but say that while Otis holds heavy claims against the Herald, Peard is the sole dictator of its policies.

The crux of the warfare between Earl and the Times, Herald and Examiner was reached when they lined up on opposite sides in the yearly adjustment of telephone rates in this city of which the message makes mention.

KANSAS CHIEF SAYS HE WAS KILLED BY HIS WIFE

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 4.—Rains which have fallen in southwest Missouri, southeastern Kansas, and northern Oklahoma since Wednesday morning, have done damage estimated at more than $1,000,000 in those districts.

At Lowell, near Galena, an electric company early today dynamited its 30-foot power dam, which cost nearly $500,000, in order to save the costly machinery of its plant from ruin by the water.

Reports from as far south as Oklahoma City tell of damages done by the rain and wind there today. All streams in the vicinity of Tulsa, Okla., are out of their banks.

It's Shopping Day

In order that the large number of visitors attracted to Colorado Springs for the carnival celebration may have an opportunity to visit the shops without missing the feature, the carnival committee has nothing scheduled on its entertainment program for this morning.

Visitors and residents alike are invited to tour the shopping district, and the stores will be made particularly attractive. The Gazette today contains advertisements from the various stores, which are of interest to those who have deferred shopping this week in view of the city's celebration. Stores will be open this evening.

This season the Colorado Springs shops are more than ever a happy hunting ground, and all stores are completely stocked with large and varied assortments. If there is anything new under the sun, doubtless it can be found here.

NEW STATE LAWS

At 12 o'clock last night a number of new state laws went into effect. Prominent among them are the following:

A bill creating a tax commission, which will review the work of county assessors and establish a uniform system of assessment and taxation. (A constitutional amendment will be voted upon at the next general election giving this board full administrative power and abolishing the state board of equalization.)

A bill creating a court of appeals of five judges, to be appointed by the governor.

A drinking cup law, which provides that at public drinking places sterilized cups must be used, or a separate cup for each person.

The registration bill, fought in the legislature by gang politicians.

The bill creating the new counties, Moffat and Crowley. Governor Shattuck has appointed the new officers for Moffat county, but has not done so yet in Crowley county.

The bill providing that employment agents shall not import laborers, without first telling them the exact conditions of the employment offered.

A labor lien bill, extended to include miners' claims.

A bill regulating the employment of children.

An amendment to the factory inspection law, giving the board further power.

A law providing for interest on judgments from the date of each, in personal injury cases.

A bill giving veterans of the civil war preference in certain classes of employment.

A bill requiring a corporation to file with the secretary of state an annual report under penalty of losing its charter.

A bill which says that members of unincorporated beneficial societies shall not be responsible for the debts of the societies.

A bill making "high grading" of ores a felony.

A bill providing that railroads, unless they fence their lines, shall be liable for stock killed.

A bill providing that the carrying of concealed weapons shall constitute a felony.

A bill providing that wife desertion shall constitute a felony instead of a misdemeanor, as at present.

Every county in the state, beginning tomorrow will adopt a new system of securing juries. The selection will be in the hands of a commission appointed by the judges of the district court.

The session laws of 1911 will make a book of nearly 900 pages—the largest of any general assembly ever convened in Colorado.

clay pigeons marbles and tin cans without number.

Trick rope throwing, impromptu races of several kinds, and a real stage holdup that was not lacking in dramatic features were sandwiched in whenever a refractory horse delayed the thrills for an instant. If the exhibition today is as new and novel as the one yesterday, the crowds which are sure to go will be rewarded with an exciting and appropriate finish to one of the most typical and stirring parts of carnival week that the city has seen.

Just before 2 o'clock yesterday, the whole wild west cavalcade galloped wildly up Tejon street, incidentally violating the shooting ordinance with volleys that awoke reminiscences of the "shooting up" of a frontier town by cowpunchers just in from the range. Arrived at the park, the show proceeded as usual to give the rapidly-gathering crowd all they had bargained for—and more, too.

Ashbaugh on Blazeaway.

Blazeaway, a rangy beast, consented after much struggling to be saddled, and he was straightway mounted by one Jack Ashbaugh, otherwise known as "Wyoming Jack." Blazeaway did not believe his name but the gentleman from Wyoming was as sticky as a burr, and the animal soon acquiesced, ending his antics with a spasmodic buck in front of the grandstand. Al Johnson, on Iron King and Buck Petri, on Bonehead furnished some amusement not on the program, when they spurred their mounts clear to the opposite side of the field before conquering their animals.

Simple Susan, famous as the real elastic goods in horseflesh, with one willow rope tied about her middle, gave the audience some real thrills. She refused to be curbed by the encircling cowboys, and hustled her rider, Jim Thomas, into the fence and the grandstand, but that doughty black man refused to be budged, after suffering the "unfishing" and "black and white" experiments of the animal, he rode her in triumph to the stand.

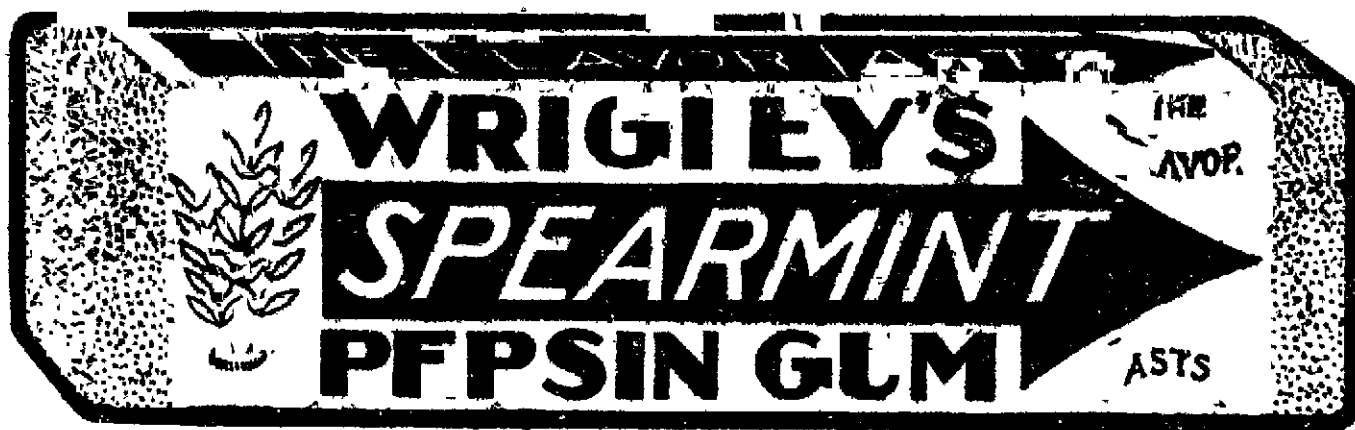

Jane Bernoulli of Arizona, the damsel of the smile and the sure seat in the saddle, gave an exhibition of rope twirling that called forth rounds of applause. Blindfolded, she jumped through the snaky coils of the whirling lariat and repeated "I will the horses which were sent galloping past her."

Captain Hardy then did so many wonderful things that words can hardly describe them. He shot holes in a

DES MOINES STRIKE ON
DES MOINES, Aug. 5.—The last of nearly 500 employees of the Des Moines City railway walked out at 1.15 o'clock this morning after returning their cars to the company barns and the strike ordered by the executive committee of the carmen's union early yesterday morning was officially on.

One of the unexpected features of the inauguration of the strike was the assemblage at midnight of several thousand people at the central waiting rooms, who cheered the crews as they passed on their final trips. The police were unable to disperse the crowd, which at one time threatened to become unruly. A rush was made on one of the local hotels where strikers were stopping but the latter had disappeared.

SAN BERNARDINO Aug. 4.—The horizon is lighted tonight with the glare of forest fires raging in City Creek canon, 20 miles east of here. To the northwest another fire is eating its way down the eastern slope of the San Bernardino mountains, and burying itself in sand wastes along the Mojave river.

Nevertheless the fires are believed to have spent their fury. Forest Supervisor Charlton announced tonight that within 48 hours his men would have both fires practically extinguished. He also declared that many fires once out had been rekindled, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed by deliberate incendiarism of men who, hired as fire fighters, started new blazes to continue their positions at 25 cents an hour. He is seeking definite evidence.

HIGH LINE CANAL ASSURED

GRAND JUNCTION, Aug. 4.—Word was received this morning from Washington that an agreement was reached which will result in the immediate construction of the high line canal. The agreements call for the use of the two present ditches. The people of the Grand Valley are to furnish the right of way.

The canal will water 53,000 acres. It has been delayed for a number of years because the survey originally made destroyed valuable resources near Palsade. The compromise will avoid this.

CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS
A. A. W. PAVING

The city council yesterday adopted a resolution and also passed on first reading an ordinance ordering paving in the downtown district and authorizing the city engineer to advertise for bids for the work. It will be necessary to publish the ordinance for 20 days, and an additional 20 days will be allowed contractors to submit bids.

Although C. W. Haines, an attorney representing several property owners on Bluff street, gave notice of protesting against paving on that thoroughfare between Cascade and Nevada avenues, the city council will pay no attention to the protest. Unless stopped by an injunction, the paving and improvement contract will be let within the next 40 days.

Attorney Haines intimated that if the matter is taken into court his position will be to attack the charter which gives the city council the right to order street paving done.

City Attorney McKesson, in reply to Haines' argument, declared that it is too late to file protests, since the time limit has expired long ago. Those protesting now, he said, were given ample opportunity to do so at the right time but did not avail themselves of it. He said that residents have no legal right to protest now, and pointed out that more changes in the paving plans would again delay the work many weeks.

The only other matter of interest taken up by the city council at yesterday's meeting was an order issued to City Forester McKown to notify property owners to trim their trees that extend over the sidewalks. In the event of refusals to comply with the order arrests are to be made.

TOURISTS DELIGHTED WITH CRYSTAL PARK

From all indications, next week's business will be a record-breaker for the Crystal Park Auto company. The usual number of cars have been running this week and most of the passengers were tourists who came to this region especially to attend the Springs carnival. All spoke enthusiastically of the beauty of the trip.

On the different trips yesterday about 50 of the Gillespie-Kimpton touring party were passengers and another Raymond-Whitcomb of 40 people is expected tonight and will probably go to the park tomorrow.

ENTERTAINS PARTY

H. Kendall gave an enjoyable tally-ho ride and a light luncheon Wednesday to a party from the Manitou hotel. They started at 3 o'clock, and the itinerary included a trip through the Garden of the Gods, over to the aviation meet at Russell park and then to Prospect lake, where luncheon was served. Late in the evening the party returned to Manitou, coming by way of Colorado Springs, where they participated in some of the carnival festivities.

TOURISTS DELIGHTED WITH CRYSTAL PARK

From all indications, next week's business will be a record-breaker for the Crystal Park Auto company. The usual number of cars have been running this week and most of the passengers were tourists who came to this region especially to attend the Springs carnival. All spoke enthusiastically of the beauty of the trip.

On the different trips yesterday about 50 of the Gillespie-Kimpton touring party were passengers and another Raymond-Whitcomb of 40 people is expected tonight and will probably go to the park tomorrow.

ENTERTAINS PARTY

H. Kendall gave an enjoyable tally-ho ride and a light luncheon Wednesday to a party from the Manitou hotel. They started at 3 o'clock, and the itinerary included a trip through the Garden of the Gods, over to the aviation meet at Russell park and then to Prospect lake, where luncheon was served. Late in the evening the party returned to Manitou, coming by way of Colorado Springs, where they participated in some of the carnival festivities.

"Crops in a Past Century"

Days in a Past Century

"Now let's forget all about old times and old-timers and live in the present," was the comment of E. S. Rogers, manager of publicity for the Dry Farming congress. "Being one of them I have accepted my share of the glory that is ours, but there is a limit to honors."

"The reason I am talking this way is that old-timers sometimes give one a pain. They are so positive that they know it all, and usually they are pulling back on the cart of progress. Last spring I took a trip out east of here, and when I came back I startled some of these veteran know-it-alls by announcing that the eastern part of the county is all settled up and that the people were plowing the land up to hear the band."

"It was an awful shock. Some of them shook their heads and declared that it couldn't be, and if it was true that it was all wrong. Then they would launch into a dreary tale of how in 1870 or thereabouts, they rode clear through from Pikes Peak to the Kansas line and never saw a fence. As to agriculture, they wouldn't give two bits for all the land east of the Printers' home. Hadn't so-and-so run sheep out there for 35 years and never raised a spear of anything or paid the government a cent. Some of them insinuated that dry farming advocates ought to be lynched for their cruelty in inducing men to try it out, and they gave me an ominous look."

Sees Fine Wheat Field.

"I gave up seeing the aviation meet this week to go out and take a look at the finest wheat field in El Paso county and incidentally I saw the green growing crops and ripened grains that they were plowing last spring. Now most of these old timers around town have not earned their tobacco money in the 10 weeks that have passed, but if they had gone but on the ten dollar field of eastern Colorado and done a little work at growing something they could have been comfortable all next winter."

"This wheat that I am talking about is at the ranch of J. N. Bradshaw, four miles north of Peyton, which is on the Rock Island railroad. There are 100 acres of it. I was there Thursday as they were finishing threshing it. It averages 20 bushels to the acre but some of it ran up to over 50 bushels."

"This wheat was raised on four inches of rain. From the time it was sown to the time it was ripe about four inches of moisture fell.

"Bradshaw is practically a scientific dry farmer. He uses the advanced methods. The land on which that wheat grew was summer fallowed last year. Last Summer he kept it mulched and clear of weeds by harrowing it three times. Then he plowed it about seven inches deep. After that it was smoothed and harrowed again and sown the first of September. Last spring it was harrowed two or three times until it got too tall for that. It is winter wheat grown from his own seed. He has not bought seed for a dozen years."

"The land on which this wheat grows is a play mixed with sand, dark and rich. It was in oats season before last."

Oats Crop Will Be Heavy.

"Bradshaw has the most beautiful place that I have ever seen in this region. He has been on it 26 years and has gathered in some 2,100 acres. Standing beside the wheat stubble is 50 acres of green oats that are expected to run 75 bushels to the acre next month. They are growing on land that was fallowed at the same time as the wheat. Keep two things in mind. Bradshaw plows seven inches deep and Bradshaw now has two large silos that contain 2,000 bushels of prime wheat that he don't have to sell until he gets ready."

"And the corn out that way! On the place of Fred Butzin the corn stands higher than a man's head, and there are two ears on every stalk. It will run about 40 bushels to the acre. One hardly looks in any direction without seeing the waving corn tops. Roasting ears are ready and the forage is tasseled. It is a dairymen's country mostly and 40 cans of milk and cream are going out of Peyton every day now. But where they have put in potatoes and other crops it is additional money in the pocket."

"It would pay the business men to get up an automobile excursion right now and go out that way. Take a 50-mile spin to the best of it. Now is the time while things are green and they can see the growing crops. They can depend on a hearty welcome from the people out that way."

AVIATORS LEAVE
Aviators Parmalee and Turpin last night bade good-by to the Pikes Peak region, for this visit, at least, leaving over the Rock Island at 9:40 for Chicago, whence they will go to Dayton, O.
Yesterday they took the Cripple Creek trip and were delighted with their visit to the gold camp. They expressed themselves as pleased beyond measure that they had been able to give the people of this section a series of successful flights.

Members of the carnival committee, as well as several business men, yesterday telegraphed their satisfaction with the visit to the Wright Brothers at Dayton.

The aéroplanes were carefully crated and shipped to Chicago last Thursday.

CHIPS ENJOY
Chipeta, widow of Chief Ouray, Buckskin Charlie, his wife and little daughter, Lucy Cloud, were entertained at a noon dinner yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waugh at their home on Boulder Crescent. Mrs. Adams, wife of the late Gen. Charles Adams, both of whom became fast friends with Chipeta and the other Utes in early days, was also a guest.

Mr. Waugh spent much time on the reservations while in the government employ, and is thoroughly familiar with the Indians. Last night he escorted the party to the Opera house, where they occupied a box while witnessing the presentation of "The House of a Thousand Candles."

M.N. ADJUTANT
Several minor accidents somewhat marred the brilliant fire run last night.
"Fox," a big black horse attached to the engine, stumbled and fell when opposite the Anders, sliding fully 50 feet on his knees. His left leg was badly injured, and it is probable that the knee will remain stiff. It is possible that the animal will have to be shut, according to the veterinary who attended him last night.

Almost at the same place, the big auto truck, tearing down the center of the street directly behind the chief's automobile, which led the procession, struck a man who gave his name as Dr. John Simpson, throwing him to the ground, badly bruising him. It was also claimed that the supports for the red lights extended so far on each side of the wagons and trucks that they struck many people. This could not be verified last night, although those in the chief's auto said that it was almost impossible to see their path, so closely did the people crowd the thoroughfare. It is believed, however, that no one was seriously hurt as a result of the run.

The fund which M. N. Elye of the Opera House has started for the benefit of Chipeta, the famous Indian squaw, was opened yesterday by two checks of $45 each from two well-known Colorado Springs residents, whose names are withheld at request. This fund is gotten up for a most worthy cause.
Any amount, no matter how small, will be gladly accepted.

One of the contributors yesterday said: "It is a burning shame that Colorado has treated the Indians as it has, and some day we will have to pay for it. My offering is small, but it expresses my sentiment in the matter.
The Indians have been unjustly served by Colorado and in the particular instance of Chipeta, the state itself should make provision for her, and ample provision at that."

The Indians will remain in this city until tomorrow night, when they leave for their reservation. Chipeta accompanies them as far as their home, and from there will ride on horseback over 80 miles to reach the reservation in Utah, to which she is exiled by the ruling of this state. That a woman who has done as much as she for the people of this state, a woman who as the wife of Ouray, was instrumental in the saving of Colorado from a most horrible massacre at the time of the Meeker affair, should be allowed to go in actual need and privation is inhuman, in the opinion of her friends. It is hoped by Mr. Elye and others interested in the making up of this purse for Chipeta that enough money will be raised to help her for the time being at least.

Hal Bishop, superintendent of the Colorado Springs branch of the state free employment bureau, will enter the drug business here with John S. Mc-Keehan of Kirksville, Mo. September 1, when his term of office expires. The two will be partners in the Columbine Drug company at 20 South Tejon street, taking over the business formerly managed by M. L. Chappas as the Palmer Drug company. Mr. McKeehan has a drug store at Kirksville, which he will maintain. The consideration in the deal is given as $10,000.

It is rumored that the retirement of Bishop from the state office here is the result of antagonism on the part of the Coray faction of the Democratic party, and that that faction now has the ear of E. V. Brake, state labor commissioner, in whose hands lies the power of appointment. Mr. Bishop would say last night only that he will enter the drug business.

ST. N. LAK
Postoffice Inspector

As a result of an argument and fight over where they should sit in the mess tent, John Appleby is in St. Francis hospital suffering from a number of cuts and stab wounds, and Joe Miller is in the county jail, charged with assault. The men were employed as laborers on the work being done at the city's mountain reservoir.

Appleby's injuries are not serious, according to Dr. O. R. Gillett, who attended him. There is one cut over the heart and two in the right forearm.
The fight took place yesterday morning, when Miller, it is said, followed Appleby into the mess tent and slashed him with a heavy clasp knife as the latter was sitting at the table. Miller ran out of the tent and was subsequently captured by Clyde McReynolds, who is employed by the water department.

Sheriff Birdsall brought Miller to Colorado Springs yesterday afternoon, walking high down the mountain from the Saddle house, about half way up the Peak.

Appleby was brought down from the mountain last night on a Short Line train and taken to the hospital. When he reached there it was necessary again to sew up his wounds.

TEXANS PICNIC TODAY

A big reunion of the hundreds of Texas people who are spending the summer in Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region will be held in of the interesting program that has number of readings by Mrs. Harry Ochenshain. Visitors from Dallas are especially invited, and all going to the picnic are requested to bring luncheon.

Badges may be secured from J. O.

ilton, Mrs. Frank Bell and Mrs. R. C.

Former Springs Man
Heads Kansas School

Word was received here yesterday that George E. Myers, formerly principal of the Colorado Springs High school, has been elected head of the Kansas State Manual Training Normal school at Pittsburg, Kan., at a salary of $3,500 a year.

Professor Myers was selected out of a list of 100 candidates by the regents because of the excellence of his upbuilding methods and management as principal of the McKinley Manual Training school at Washington, D. C., where he has been for the last few years. After leaving Colorado Springs, Professor Myers went to Clark university, where he received an LL. D.
degree. He secured his appointment at Washington by passing the civil service competitive examination.

No change to make room for the postmaster's bank are contemplated at present by Postmaster Strachan, and it is probable that the unused window in the money-order department will become the bank teller's window.
So far the postmaster has not named the employee to be in charge of the banking department, and it is not likely that he will do so for several days.
At present literature relating to the handling of funds and rules of the department are being carefully studied.
Yesterday a large package of rule books were received.

"I do not expect the postoffice inspector to arrive before August 21, a week before the savings bank is to be opened," said Mr. Strachan. "He will instruct the teller in his work and will probably be here for two or three days.
I am anxious that the public be fully informed as to the opening of the bank so we can make a good showing in the beginning."

In a letter from the postmaster general last week, Mr. Strachan was requested to telegraph the department at Washington a report of his first day's business and to send a written report direct to the postmaster general at the end of each week. It is thought that the bank will meet with great favor and that the first week's business will be large.

W. E. PABOR LEAVES TODAY

W. E. Pabor, secretary of the Fountain colony 40 years ago, when that organization founded Colorado Springs, and who has been visiting here during carnival week, will leave this morning for Boulder, where he will visit his family for several days. Next week he will attend the meeting of the state editorial association at Idaho Springs, and after that will rest for some time at his son's home. He will return to his home at Pabor Lake, Fla., about September 1. Before leaving for the south he will visit several towns and cities in the state, spending at least a day in Colorado Springs.

Saturday, August 13, was selected yesterday as tag day, at a meeting of the local board of managers of the Bethel hospital, and plans were made for a successful campaign. Stations where reports can be made to the subcommittees will be established all over the city. Headquarters will be in the office of Dr. F. B. Rothrock in the El Paso bank building where the president of the board, Mrs. W. S. Morris, assisted by Mrs. A. D. Craigie, may be found all day.

"Tag, you're it" will be the familiar greeting, and it is expected that none will omit this opportunity to contribute toward the hospital fund, as even the smallest sums will be acceptable and will total a gratifying amount.

Lunch will be served for the helpers in the First M. E. church, beginning at 12 o'clock, and the women will come in relays until all have been cared for.
The lunch will be in charge of a large and efficient committee.

The real value lies in the fact that it is freshly roasted. It

Miss Thelma L. Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Plagler D. Hayes, 210 North Willow street, and a graduate of the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind in the class of 1910, has written an article reminiscent of the past, which is particularly apropos in view of carnival week. Miss Hayes was an excellent student, although blind, and took several prizes during her course. The article follows:

Miss Hayes' Article.
The carnival which visits the Pikes Peak region is charmed with its picturesque, its scenic beauty is truly enchanting and far exceeds in grandeur the expectations of even the most imaginative. Its blue skies, so often likened to those of far-famed Italy, are infinitely more beautiful; its towering peaks, larger than any other, are enfolded in robes of azure which soften their rugged outlines, thus forming a picture, which no artist could ever paint and no poet could ever portray. Its inviting atmosphere, its enthusiasm, even the most unresponsive heart, and breathes a sense of freedom and contentment over all. Its fragrance is fully appreciated by all, this and long after he has returned to his home and has again resumed the monotonous routine of his labor his thoughts recur to the beautiful and romantic spot where his vacation was so happily spent. Thereby brightening many a weary hour and lightening many an arduous task. But there is a far greater reason about this region than merely its picturesque beauty and the historical interest connected with it.

Many are aware that Colorado had an early history, a history that rivals the most thrilling work in fiction. There are, however, few who have turned to the history of this state and have not been struck by the fact of this reality that those who were actors in the great drama which marks the beginning of the West. Stories of how the early settlers, of the great plains, with prairie schooners and oxen, of the hardships they faced during their journeys, or the difficulties they experienced in becoming accustomed to the new homes and of their combats with hostile Indians, have been told and retold, but never do such narratives lose their intense interest. It seems almost incredible that the wheels of progress have moved so rapidly, transforming within less than half a century a vast extent of prairie land into a group of beautiful cities and villages, and almost obliterating every trace of its early character.

A Vivid Contrast.
Who, indeed, can realize as he walks through the wide streets of our charming little city and views with a certain amount of pride the fine business blocks and the splendid residence district, or standing upon some prominent point contemplates with pleasure the scene before him, the hillsides dotted with the picturesque dwellings and for off in the distance a steeply rising smokestack and perhaps the curling clouds of smoke from some locomotive winding its way through the mountain, that it is possible to find Father Time to turn back to another page in his ledger and allow the modern observer to peruse the pages relating to events of the early 60s, and that he might be transported to this period, the picture he now beholds would be vastly changed.

Herds of buffalo would be seen grazing placidly, fearing no disturbance, and the trains of settlers' wagons moving slowly across the prairie en route to their new homes, and not infrequently large bands of Indians ornamented with their war paint, and in every case of the word being on the "war path," seeking to wreak vengeance upon the white man who dared to "infringe upon their rights."

As we are celebrating in a most appropriate manner, the fortieth anniversary of the birth of Colorado Springs, the scenes of these early days return to the mind of many an old pioneer, and he is pleased at the interest manifested by the younger generation in the tales of his early experiences which he is more than willing to relate, for he realizes that he is an important factor in the great festivities.

Mr. Williams' Reminiscences.
Those were strenuous times," says Mrs. Williams. "We lived in constant fear of the Indians, for during the early years they were nearly always hostile, and it required the utmost tact on the part of the leading men of the settlement to prevent even more frequent outbreaks than did occur. Although only a child, I fully realized what it meant for the Indians to be on the war path. Today an Indian is regarded as a modern curiosity, but to my childhood he was a living terror."

"I remember upon one occasion, while my father was absent from home, how in the midst of our evening meal our attention was attracted by a sound of galloping horses, and in a moment or two we were almost paralyzed to see the windows and doors darkened by dusky forms which we well knew were Indians. The children were panic-stricken, and sought the most convenient places of concealment. My mother, however, remained calm and asked what they wanted, and why they had come. One who was evidently the leader replied: 'Biscuits! Meat! We want white squaw give.' She gave them some bread and meat and signed for them to go, but they squatted down on the kitchen floor and on the back door steps and calmly ate their repast. When they had finished they rode away without another word. This was only the beginning of their impromptu visits, but they always occurred during my father's absence."

"One day my small brother and I went to wade in the creek which was but a short distance from our house. There was a fringe of bushes and small trees along the bank, which screened the creek from our view. As we approached we heard sounds in the bushes like those of suppressed groans, and being thoroughly frightened, we retreated precipitately to the house. We told father of the hideous sounds we had heard, and he, while laughing at our fears to humor us, took his gun and went on a tour of investigation. To his surprise he discovered a squaw lying on the ground, half dead, and bending over her an Indian buck holding in his hand an immense clink with which he had been beating her. As my father came upon them the buck stood erect and the expression of astonishment on his face was evidence that he had been taken quite by surprise."

Squaw Dies From Abuse.

"My father was incensed and threatened to shoot him like a fox," but the Indian did not so much as move, and only muttered in a guttural tone, 'Bad squaw! me like kill squaw.' My father, not wishing to call forth the wrath of the entire band, finally permitted the reluctant to depart with his ill-used squaw. We found out later that she died several days after this incident occurred."

"During these times we never knew what moment it might become necessary for us to fly to the fort for protection—indeed our sojourns within the walls of the fort were so numerous that I am not able to account for all of them. I remember very distinctly, however, of one occasion when we sought refuge in the fort. We had just put out a large washing and were preparing a dinner when a young man rode up and told us that we had better get to the fort as quickly as possible, for the Indians were committing all sorts of depredations. We needed no further warning, but hurried to the fort, where we remained for six weeks."

Numerous other incidents relating to this subject might be mentioned, but it is sufficient to say that the pioneers with brave hearts and with customary American grit, overcame all obstacles, and a victorious conquest was their reward."

Many people have remarked that as they are seated on the bank of some little mountain stream in this region, the waters murmuring and bubbling over the rocks seem to convey to their minds scenes of joy, beauty and all things bright, others say that they hear a soft, sweet strain of music which fills the soul with an unutterable peace, but were it possible to inquire of those who are laughing, sparkling, brook, undoubtedly most wonderful secrets would be revealed and stories rivaling those of "The Arabian Nights" would be related; so, you who profess to know the language of the waters, listen not for their poetry and music, but for the truths they would convey to you.

The matinee of the Russian ballet given yesterday afternoon in the Stratton park pavilion was well attended and even more enjoyable than the Thursday evening performance. The little dancers were appreciatively received.

Under the direction of Mrs. Frank Smith, those taking part achieved wonders in the scant time granted for rehearsal. The swan dance of little Muffet O'Brien was a revelation of what a child can accomplish, and Margaret Severn's interpretation of the "Zephyr," a breezy little dance composed by Mrs. Smith and dedicated to Colorado Springs, instantly caused it to become a favorite.

Clara Eassey of Denver, demonstrated her skill as a dancer and repeated the triumphs of the kirmess last spring. Her parasol, butterfly, glow worm and aerial dances were marvels of grace. All others taking part are also entitled to unstinted praise. The ballet entertainment was undoubtedly one of the many successes of the carnival.

Cattlemen May Hold Big Convention Here

The good that promoters of the carnival predicted would come of this week's activity has already made itself manifest. It is probable that Colorado Springs next year will entertain a big convention of cattle raisers and pioneers of El Paso county. An informal meeting of the cattlemen and old-timers was held yesterday and it was decided to prepare plans for the convention. Thomas Brigham was elected temporary chairman and William Berryman, secretary-treasurer. Brigham will begin appointing committees at once. It is probable that such a convention will bring several hundred people to the city.

WORK

Done Daily in Colorado Springs. Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Colorado Springs still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Mrs. J. H. Boynton, 1101 Grant Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "The statement I gave for publication, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills in December, 1906, still holds good. We continue to value this remedy as highly as ever and have on more than one occasion spoken in its praise. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the D. F. Butcher Drug Co., were used in our family in a case of kidney complaint. The person who had this trouble suffered a great deal from a pain and swelling in the feet and was hardly able to stand. Doan's Kidney Pills brought prompt relief and once or twice since then when they have been taken, good results have followed."

NELSON CAME BACK; WNC BY KNOCK

The shaken-up Zooz and their new defense dimmed the Denver All-Stars, 13 to 12, in a regular nine-inning bout at the Coughlin yard yesterday afternoon.

For five innings the score was close, with the visitors in the lead, but the local batters came to the front with their hands on the bat in the sixth and hammered in eight tallies.

In the eighth with the score 12 to 3 in favor of the Zooz, Bill went second-basing and went into the box. Long fouls on the copy desk and much burning of the midnight incense had impaired the P. L.'s lamps somewhat and he was unable to locate the plate. It didn't look as big as a butter dish to him. Passes, hits and timely misuses gave the Stars seven runs.

The game that the fans look forward to with much interest occurred tomorrow when the hard-hitting Rio Grandes of Denver return for another tilt with the Zooz. By way of making it exciting for the Grandes, the Zooz will present their strongest lineup with Van Stone in the box. Edmunds behind the bat; Reilly, first base; Davis or Gall, second; Adv. short; Counts, third and Hastings, Warbritton and Siddons in the field. The Rio Grandes will be equally stout with Nichols probably doing the pitching.

One of the biggest crowds of the season is expected at Zoo park tomorrow, not only on account of the ball game but also because a free barbecue is a part of the program arranged by Owner Coughlin. The new hot and cold bathing pools, the largest in the west, will be opened for the first time tomorrow. Yesterday's score:

DOVE SEASON OPENS

Unless a referendum petition was filed before midnight last night, the revised game laws are now in effect. Hunting licenses already issued are effective this morning, according to the terms of the new law. The dove season, which under the new bill opened August 1 and closes September 1, opens this morning. The season was delayed four days because of the referendum time limit.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—President

Lynch of the National league said today that, in view of the player's promise of future good behavior, he might soon raise the suspension inflicted against Sherwood Magee of the Philadelphia club. He declared, however, that Magee is allowed to reenter the game it will be with the understanding that he is on strict probation.

"The player," said President Lynch, "has appeared before the board of directors and stated freely that he was sorry that the incident occurred; that he has always tried to conduct himself in such a way as not to bring disrepute upon himself or his profession. He now freely admits that there was nothing done or said by the umpire which would any way have warranted him in his actions. He also promises that in case he is reinstated never again to lay hands on an umpire nor cause trouble in the National league."

S.S.S. AFFAIR
The majority of human ailments are caused by impure blood, because weak, polluted blood deprives the system of its necessary strength and disease-resisting powers. Children do not develop perfectly, nor are they strong and robust unless the blood is pure and strong, while old people are afflicted with Rheumatism and other chronic troubles because of a weakened circulation. S.S.S. cures every ailment which comes from impure or diseased blood. It tones up and regulates every portion of the system and creates an abundant supply of nourishing properties with which to build up the blood. S.S.S. is absolutely free from harmful drugs and minerals, and is therefore the purest and most blood medicine for young or old. S.S.S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrhs, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Malaria, Blood Poison, and all other blood disorders. Book on the blood and any medical advice free. sense of that term, will now have an opportunity to renew their depleted household supplies.
And this is a reminder that the merchants of Colorado Springs are ready and waiting to sell goods. The success of the Carnival was due largely to the generosity with which they supported it financially and gave their time and energy to the conduct of the immense amount of work involved. On Wednesday afternoon they closed their stores to give the employees an opportunity to share in the holiday festivities. Now that a revival of business is due they are entitled to all of the prosperity which will accompany it.

FROM OTHER PARTS

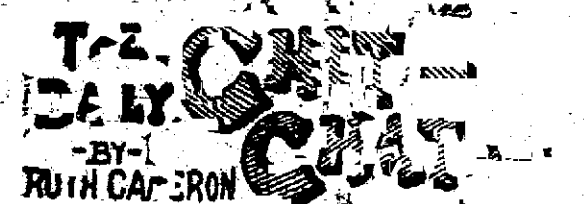

NEW TRADE MARKS FOR STEEL.
From the Portland Oregonian.
The virtuous purpose of the world's steel kings to observe the golden rule may be proclaimed by having that rule printed on the steel trust's stock certificates and bonds. Above might be inscribed the cross (not the double cross), with the motto: "In hoc signo vinces." As a beginning in observance of the golden rule, the trust might squeeze out the water.

BUT THE LAW WAS OBEYED.

From the Troy Times.
There was a curious and not altogether pleasant development at the Independence day celebration at Los Angeles, Cal. More than 10,000 men, women and children went to the various beaches in the vicinity to enjoy the holiday. Most of the crowd remained until late at night, and when they wished to return to their homes it was discovered no trolley cars were running, the managers having discontinued service because the law of California forbids working employees more than 10 hours a day. As a result the greater number of the excursionists were compelled to pass the night at the resorts in question, those who could do so finding accommodations at hotels and other quarters, but by far the greater proportion camping out on the beaches exposed to a chilling air, as it gets cool in that locality after midnight. Of course, laws are meant to be obeyed, but certainly a little common sense and desire to provide properly for the public on such an occasion would have prevented a whole lot of trouble.

TUBERCULOSIS FROM MILK.

From the Washington Star.
If further warrant were needed for the imposition of strict regulations upon the milk supply to lessen the danger of disease transmission, it is furnished by the report of the royal commission on bovine tuberculosis just submitted to parliament in London. This commission has already made three reports on the subject, this being the final rendering of facts and recommendations, after an investigation covering nearly a decade. The commission reaches the conclusion that tuberculosis is unquestionably transmitted from cows through the milk supply, and recommends the rigid enforcement of existing regulations to lessen this danger. It urges the exclusion from the food supply of the milk of any recognizably tuberculous cow, regardless of the site of the disease within the cow. The enforcement of such regulation calls for thorough organization and involves large expenditures first in clearing away all suspected cows, and second in maintaining the proper system of inspection at dairies and over the distributing agencies. No community can afford to ignore this possible menace to the lives of both old and young.

"Why, I'm ever so much more careful of my clothes since I earned my own money. I make them last just about twice as long."
So a young woman who has had her first experience in wage earning this past winter commented on one effect of that experience.
She is the daughter of people of very moderate means. She never in all her life has had a fixed allowance. Her father said he could not afford to give her one. Instead he has given her money whenever she asked for it, if he possibly could.

Now this girl has always been extremely careless about her clothes. Her gowns have a way of getting torn and soiled in half the time one would expect and her hats become dilapidated and her shoes scratched and old looking in a few weeks. She said she just couldn't help it, that she was unlucky. I always wondered if her father had not handed her over the money to buy new things to replace the prematurely destroyed ones. If she would have been quite so "unlucky."

And now the question is answered. She has bought her own clothes for a year. She has had a definite sum to buy with, not a vague, indefinite, haphazard supply which the plea of a torn gown or ruined hat would probably make elastic.

It has been a case of learn to be careful or do without. And she has learned to be more careful. Which is a lesson she would have learned years and years ago if her father had given her a fixed and absolutely inelastic allowance.
Of course, even then, she would not have had quite as much respect for the money as if she had earned it herself, but she would have found out what it could and could not do, and would have proceeded to help it do its best by taking due care of her clothes.

He said he couldn't afford to give her an allowance, because he was a poor man. As a matter of fact, he couldn't afford not to give her one for just that reason.

It is often the child of poorer parents who has absolutely no conception of the value of money because she never has the handling of any; while the wealthier girl, who has a definite allowance, learns thrift and economy.
I believe that just as soon as a child realizes that pennies have other uses besides being put in his mouth or rolled across the floor, he should have an allowance.

At first this would be only a very little for spending money, but as the child grows older I think that more and more of the money spent upon him should be put into his own hands until the boy or girl of 14 or 15 is given an allowance that covers all his personal needs. Mother or father would supervise the spending of course. That goes without saying.

Too many mothers and fathers have an idea that an allowance is an extra, something that only wealthy people can afford to give their children.

The sooner they get rid of this notion and realize that with an allowance of no more money than they have previously had in dribble sums, if as much, their children can buy thrift and economy as well as clothes and pleasures, the better for those children.

THE POWER OF THE SEED.

The Blossom Tree (A TRIBUTE.)

(Written for The Colorado Springs Gazette.)

Mother Nature to him said, as he bent his stately head:
"Here I bid you sow a seed, that shall be a flower or weed
As, beneath your guiding hand it shall in the sunshine stand, Sentinel by peaks of snow, girl by valley lands below."

As he heard, he looked around; all about was virgin ground;
Desolate to him it seemed, as it in the sunshine gleamed.
Mother Nature seemed to ask of her child a thankless task;
Yet, as he the landscape swept, low he answered, "I accept."

"Here a seed I plant in sand, for a blessing to the land;
Let upon it fall the rain till through death, it shall life gain.
Reappearing from its tomb as an angel might to bloom
To a blossom that shall be, sweet and beautiful to see."

Mother Nature answered, "Lo! from yon hill-top crowned with snow
Streams whose waters flowing down shall change plains land, now so brown
Into meadow lands and bowers, robed in green and gown
That shall be a Nation's pride, where its people shall abide."

Then the sower sowed a seed, to be flower or be weed;
And he saw, with vision clear, what would follow, year by year.
In the seed would sprout a rose; through the sand would sprout a shoot Green and slender, that would be, later on a Blossom Tree.

Sending out its branches strong, where the birds would come with song,
Nesting in the Blossom Tree for a coming century;
He saw singing birds go forth, east and west and south and north,
As they flew on wings so free, singing of the Blossom Tree.

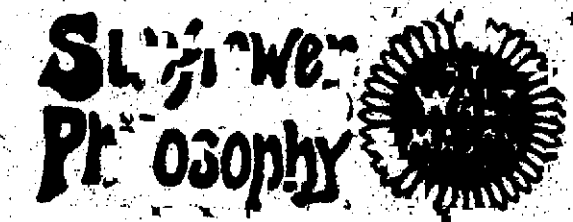

Did our Mother Nature err, when she chose her worshiper,
As the sower of a seed that would fill a Nation's need?
Faith he had and heart of hope, that in time this sunrise slope
When the seed fruition found, this would be enchanted ground.

After forty years we see in full bloom the Blossom Tree;
Perfumed gales its rose leaves send to the world's remotest end;
Here the founts of healing flow from its roots far down below
And a stately city stands where once lay but bare brown sands.

When the sower's work was done, Nature whispered "Thou hast won!"
Come and on my loving breast claim from me celestial rest;
Sorrow as a shadow fell on the city he loved well,
But a smile was in his eyes as his Ego sought the skies.

PALMER'S name will live as long as the world knows speech or song;
Tear by tear his Blossom Tree blooms for all the world to see,
Far and wide it reaches high to the assure of the sky;
On its boughs each bird who sings, sings of Colorado Springs.

August 4, 1911.

The summer's swiftly gliding by, it couldn't fly be flecter; and soon we'll cease to curse the fly, and howl at the mosquito. A few more busy, hustling weeks, and summer will be over! The frost will spangle on the leaves, the sandbars and the clover! The sun behind the wintry clouds will sink, its task forgetting; and we no more in wilted crowds will tell how hard we're sweating. And when the snow has hid the flowers, which now the fields are thronging, we'll talk of golden summer hours with tears of idle longing. And that's the way we all are built; our heads are made of leather; in summer, when our collars wilt, we long for wintry weather. And when the fires of winter burn, when come the snow and blizzard, we wish that summer would return, to show our frozen gloves. I sometimes think that when we leave this world of sin and sorrow, where people sit around and grieve, and woe and anguish borrow, we'll weary of the harp and down and of the snowy pinions, and seek a chance to amble down to these profane domains.

What the Press Agents Say

U. S. BOYS' GAZETTE
VALENTE ATTRACTION

It is not going over to say that vaudeville has produced no more brilliant or interesting military spectacle than "The U. S. A. Boys" are showing at the present time over the Sullivan and Comstock tour, after three years of extraordinary success in Europe. The "U. S. A. Boys" are a full troop of highly trained soldiers, most of them drafted from the regular army. Their act is a highly realistic attack upon a fort by the enemy's navy. The attack, the siege, the rescue by the warboats from "home" and the repulse are all shown in brilliant if noisy fashion, the machine guns keeping up a lively tattoo throughout the engagement. Every maneuver which might attend upon an action of the kind is demonstrated, and for twenty-five minutes there is such entertainment that every nerve is pulled taut and the audience is fairly on tiptoe.

This act is the headliner of the new bill, which opens at the Majestic theater this afternoon and its presence on the program is alone enough to insure the popularity of the show, which is another of those high-class offerings that are winning the Majestic such a lot of other good things. Mann and Franks are so clever and capable a team of entertainers as is on the circuit. Good singing voices contribute to the pleasure of their work, and they mingle comedy and pathos in a way that never fails to make an appeal to all. Phenomena is one of the most remarkable puzzles the singing world has produced. By reason of some break in physiological makeup his vocal cords are attuned to five distinctly different singing voices. He is bass, baritone, tenor, contralto and soprano and he is each one of these clearly and distinctly. In fact, he sings charmingly in any one of his five voices, from the lowest bass to far above high "C." Phenomena comes with an exceptionally well selected repertoire of songs and must be counted an unusual attraction in vaudeville.

Mort Fox is a Hebrew comedian and monologist whose repertory is chuck full of laughs and he will prove one of the big hits of the bill. In addition to these acts the Majestic will present the latest Rex motion picture play, "Her Way," an almost tragic drama, and another entertaining film, which Director Hokenberger of the concert orchestra has arranged a most attractive program.

This fine offering of high-class entertainment—an hour and a half of it—can be seen for only 10, 20 and 30 cents. Performances at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:10.

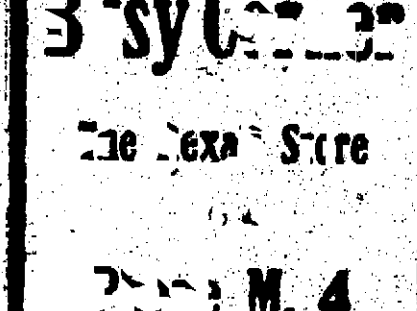

HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES' MATINEE

The last performance of George Middleton's dramatization of "The House of a Thousand Candles" will be given at the Opera house this afternoon at 2:30 and tonight at 8:15 o'clock. Patrons who reserve seats for the performance at the Opera house must take up their reservations by 8 o'clock the night of the performance for which they are engaged, or the seats will be sold.

Camille Lewis, the popular character woman of the Lorch company, has had a splendid opportunity during the past few weeks to show her versatility in other lines than as a character actress. Miss Lewis is undoubtedly the best character woman playing in stock in this section of the country. She has had wide experience in this line of acting and has proven her mettle many times over. In recent productions of the Lorch company she has frequently been called upon to play leading roles and also several "bad" woman or "heavies" as they are called in stage-land. Though out of her special line of work, Miss Lewis has shown what she can do and has succeeded in extending quite broadly the range of her art.

Personally Miss Lewis prefers character work. "There is something strangely fascinating to me in playing characters," said Miss Lewis the other day. "I feel that I have accomplished something really worth while when I have completely submerged my own personality and appearance in a role. I like to hide myself in the clothes of people entirely different from myself. I like to get into their beings and feel the emotions, the sorrows, the happiness of people entirely foreign to my nature. It is real, blissful joy to create, to evolve something new. Leading roles are generally but another phase of one's own life, but character parts demand something not always in the actress."

"The Battle" will be presented by the Lorch company next week for four nights and a Wednesday matinee commencing Monday night.

HARDY'S 16 NORTH TEJON STREET

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

August 5, 1881.
A most successful celebration was held in Durango on the occasion of the completion of the railroad to that city. Many prominent people from all over the state were present. Durango was at this time less than a year old and had an estimated population of 4,000.

M. A. Wanless of this city sold Crystal park to the Rev. J. K. Hill of St. Louis. Mr. Hill and associates planned to build a hotel there and make it a first-class summer resort.

There were numerous complaints that D. & R. G. freight trains were blocking the Huertano street crossing for more than 20 minutes, the longest time allowed by the city ordinances.

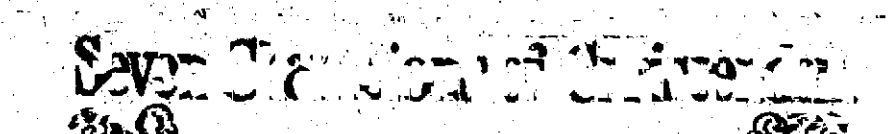

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

August 5, 1891.
The Gazette announced that "On Sunday the public was permitted to bathe in the (Prospect) lake for the first time."

Redmond McDonagh, a prominent lawyer of Galway, Ireland, arrived at the Antlers to spend some time here.

Miss E. A. Crowell left on a visit to Boston.

E. K. Shurtliff, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and also secretary of the Denver association, visited the Y. M. C. A. in this city.

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is no one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charming number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 6 ST. PATRICK OF IRELAND

St. Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland, and his festival day is March 17. Upon this day, Irish men and women all over the world pay tribute to the noble saint of the Emerald Isle. Probably no man ever lived over whom so many battles have been fought as to where his birthplace was. From a carefully translated edition of the "Confessions of St. Patrick," annexed to Miss Cusack's "Life of St. Patrick," and generally accepted by scholars as authority, it seems certain that Patrick was born of Christian parents at Bannavem, of Tibernia, a Roman village in Britain.
"As near as can be learned he was born about the year 372, and until he was 16 lived the simple life of a farmer's son. Then an event, not uncommon in those days, happened to him, for he was captured by pirates and sold into Irish slavery, where for some years he was employed as a shepherd on the Slemish mountains in county Antrim. He escaped to his home, but a vision warned him to return to Ireland as a missionary, but before doing so he received from Pope Celestine in 432 his apostolic benediction.
From a metrical life of St. Patrick, attributed to "Fiace of Sleibhte," we learn:
"He preached three-score years The cross of Christ to the Tuatha of Fenl;
In the Tuatha of Erin there was darkness,
The Tuatha adored the Sile."
From the Book of Armagh we learn the Sile were "gods of the earth, phantoms," mysterious beings who nature. It is real, blissful joy to create, to evolve something new. Leading roles are generally but another phase of one's own life, but character parts demand something not always in the actress."

ANTHONY'S T. R. TORACCA

A lion was so very vain He almost drove the beasts insane. Until he cried, "You're no better than we!"

The lion said, "I'm sure it's plain I'm better than you are in the mane I see that you are quite stupid," said he.

We have all heard of how to tame a lion or a tiger by steadily keeping the eye fixed on him. According to an expert animal trainer a more effective method is a cigar or cigarette. Says a representative of the Adam Forepangh and Sells Brothers United Shows, which will be here soon:

"Nearly every wild beast that I have ever come across, is fond of tobacco in some shape or form. I made this discovery quite accidentally. One of the visitors who was smoking a cigar puffed some of the smoke in a lion's face as he lay asleep in the cage.

"I expected to see a real riot, but instead of that the lion, after giving a couple of snorts, moved quietly up to the bars and raised his nose sniffing, as if asking for a second dose. I have tried the experiment on all sorts of wild animals since and I have found that most of them enjoy thoroughly a big sniff of tobacco.

"We had a bear once that used to rub his nose and back against the bars of his cage just like a cat, asking to be stroked, whenever anyone smoking a cigar came near him. Antelopes and wild goats aren't satisfied with the mere whiff. If you give them a cigar or cigarette they will swallow it eagerly and, what is more, seem to suffer no bad effects from their meal."

One of the largest portable zoos ever exploited by any circus will be brought to this city with the Adam Forepangh and Sells Brothers shows, Tuesday, August 8.

Hot weather—short sleeves, and—bracelets! Come summertime, these trinkets are more in demand than ever to finish the short-sleeved frock. Very charming, indeed, to harmonize with different gowns are the colored gem bracelets a band of gold set around with deep blue sapphires, amethysts, or some other colored stones.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The stock market today continued its downward tendency by establishing a number of new low records for the present movement. All classes of stock participated in the decline, in the early hours of the session the list had manifested some disposition towards recovery, being aided by the better demand for our shares in London. Standard Oil's continued weakness in the outside market, its net loss today being 16 points, was again a factor, and sensational upward movements in cotton options were viewed with some concern. Offerings of United States Steel were on a large scale today for some time, aggregating over 200,000 shares. That stock was the weakest of the active group, making a net decline of 2 1/2 points. Other issues that showed pronounced heaviness included the electrical stocks, American Smelting, the copper, the Harriman and Hill shares, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Texas Co., Interborough, Metropolitan, preferred, Brooklyn Union Gas and Laclede Gas, declines ranging from 2 to 4 1/2 points. Final prices were at the day's low level, the whole flat reflecting a state of demoralization.

Following the close of the market it was reported that much of the selling resulted from closing of accounts because of impaired margins.

In the general excitement of the day, little attention was paid to the money market, the feature of which was an advance in four-month funds of 1/2 per cent, the highest rate for that period quoted this year.

Bonds were weak in sympathy with equities. Treasury sales, par value, $2,300,000. United States government bonds unchanged on call.
